Dear Producer,

PROPERTY IDENTIFICATION CODE (PIC) - [REDACTED]

FOR PROPERTIES:

- [REDACTED]

Thank you for your Property Identification Code (PIC) application/update. Our records now indicate that you have poultry on the property.

If this is a new PIC application, you will soon receive a plastic card with your PIC and details printed on it. These cards are printed monthly and will be posted to you in the mail.

Once a PIC has been issued to your property you are required to notify this office if there is any change in property details (eg sale or purchase of land) so that our records can be amended. Changes in property details can be notified by contacting Agriculture Victoria's Biosecurity Services Centre on 1800 678 779 between 9:00am and 4:30pm weekdays.

Please note the following:

- Egg code stamping is compulsory in Victoria for all egg producers with 50 birds or more who sell eggs for human consumption.
For more information call 1800 678 779 or visit agriculture.vic.gov.au/eggs
- If you own more than 50 poultry, you are required to apply for a PIC (if you don't already have one) and to include your PIC in any advertisement for sale of poultry.
In the cases where a livestock agent is involved in the sale, with their name and contact details appearing the advertisement, a PIC is not required.
- If you have a PIC and are selling poultry but don't have more than 50 poultry, you are not required to include your PIC in the advertisement.
For more information call 1800 678 779 or visit agriculture.vic.gov.au/pic

Yours sincerely
